

Welcome to the new weekly newsletter for families who are battling DIPG/DMG!

Therapy isn't just for dealing with the loss of a child. Having a child facing a life limiting illness can cause stress, anxiety, depression and more. It can strain relationships and break apart families. Don't forget to check in with everyone in the family and do things to help your mental health weekly! Remember as they say on an airplane- you have to put your oxygen mask on first before helping others.
